For our members

How has music helped you through COVID19?

Have you got a story to share?

We would love to hear it and publish it in Musicworks.

Please send your stories to Anne Power:

Useful Information about COPYRIGHT

The education statutory licence allows the digitisation of resources, and communication of digitised resources for online learning. A key requirement is that education institutions do not digitise entire publications that they can purchase. Online teaching is not new, but many education institutions are now doing it for the first time. You can see our guidelines for online teaching below which you may wish to provide as a useful link on your website.
